

arizona state university graduate college

hsdst

new doctoral program

human and social dimensions of science and technology

The degree program provides integrated, in-depth training in history and philosophy of science, science and technology studies, and science and technology policy, while giving students significant flexibility in defining individual curricula.

Applications are due December 15th, annually.

hsd.asu.edu • hsd@asu.edu

program steering committee program director:

Clark A. Miller
International Science Policy

Elizabeth Corley
Science & Environmental Policy

Karin Ellison
History of Technology, Ethics

Gary Grossman
Technology & Development

David Guston
US Science & Technology Policy

Joe Herkert
Engineering Ethics

Paul Hirt
Environmental History

Ann Hibner Koblitz
Gender & Science

Jane Maienschein
History and Philosophy of Biology

Jason Scott Robert
Ethics & Philosophy of Science

Daniel Sarewitz
Science & Technology Policy

Jameson Wetmore
Technology Studies

ASU
ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY